

Time Limits on Coursework

Time Limits on Coursework

Fort Lewis College coursework more than 10 years old is not applicable toward major, auxiliary, or minor requirements in a degree program or applicable to requirements in a certificate program without approval of the department chair or program director. This policy does not apply to courses fulfilling Liberal Arts Core requirements or being used as free electives. See Transfer, Examination, and Prior Learning Credit Policies for time limits on the transfer of coursework from other higher education institutions.